

Our 9th Annual
Teach for Life!
NVC EDUCATORS
INSTITUTE

Come To Learn

Teach for Life! is a 5-day residential training for school teachers, administrators, counselors, and homeschool parents, where we co-create a supportive, dynamic learning community based in the consciousness and practices of Nonviolent CommunicationSM.

Come To Play

Each day offers a balance of playful exploration, thoughtful inquiry, powerful exercises for skill-development, and sharing of best practices.

Come To Co-Create

Throughout the five days, you will strengthen your ability to:

- Live from a consciousness of compassion with yourself & others
- Practice Nonviolent CommunicationSM with students & colleagues
- Shift from managing students' behavior to nurturing respectful, caring relationships in the classroom
- Implement a "No-fault Classroom" curriculum
- Inspire engaged learning
- Demonstrate leadership in your school community
- Resolve conflict peacefully & teach your students to do the same

Take Home with you . . .

The lived experience • the modeling • new tools and skills • your own action plan to create a Compassionate Classroom and Compassionate School Community where you live!

Participants had this to say:

"I came away with activities to use with children, connection with people who can support me, a plan for presentation to school districts and our school, and ways to practice the NVC process in my life."

"My satisfaction level was off the high end of the scale for the facilitation of group spirit, support of individuals, and the amount of learning and laughter!"

"I got to connect with a group of people like never before. This 5 days was full to the brim with learning, "a-ha!", and connection. It was heart and mind opening. I learned about ways to bring NVC to children; many ideas, games, and mostly the realization that as this lives and blossoms in me, so I pass it on."
